University of Lethbridge highlights for the week of November 23 to 29, 2020

The University of Lethbridge has several events lined up this week that may be of interest to your readers, viewers and listeners. Members of the media who are interested in covering these events are encouraged to contact the individual event organizer directly.

Music at Noon Concert Series

Tuesday, Nov. 24, 12:15 to 1 p.m., online concert

If you need a little music in your life, plan to take in this free concert live from the Recital Hall featuring Chee Meng Low (saxophone), Nick Sullivan (bass trombone) and Brad Parker (piano). They'll be presenting some fun duet music and a new composition from Malaysian composer Yii Kah Hoe.

Registration is required to provide attendees with secure access information before the event starts. Reserve your pass at uleth.ca/tickets.

PUBLIC Professor Series — Dr. Elizabeth Galway

Thursday, Nov. 26, 7 to 9 p.m., Zoom webinar

Dr. Elizabeth Galway, an English professor, presents What's So Childish About Children's Stories? Exploring the Complex World of Literature for Young Readers. Galway will explore ways children's texts engage with issues that are not just relevant to young people but also adults who influence children's literature, including authors, illustrators and publishers. She'll draw on her research into imperialism and nationalism in 19th century British and Canadian children's literature and uncover some of the complexities in children's literature.

Register on Eventbrite to obtain secure access information before the event starts.
