Andrea (Andi) is a singer, actor, and concert producer in Lethbridge, AB. Andi holds a Diploma from the (formerly) Lethbridge College, a Bachelor of Arts degree in Dramatic Arts, and has recently completed her Master of Arts (Dramatic Arts) degree. She has lived all over Alberta and has owned and operated her private business since 2007, where she specializes in training and mentoring singers and actors. She currently assists Lethbridge police cadets in training scenarios through Lethbridge Polytechnic. Andi has also been employed at the University of Lethbridge, assisting in research, writing, and teaching Indigenous curriculum in sketch comedy for the Department of New Media (Faculty of Fine Arts), serving as the music consultant for the U of L's first Indigenous-led production of Yissistii, assisting with the 'Waking Death' class curriculum and community symposium, and contributing her thesis research on the need for more diversity in Canadian theatre for racialized actors. She is also a trained Paralegal. As a Métis (Cree) woman with two half-Latina daughters, Andi is proud to make a difference in her community as a member of the EDI Advisory Council at the U of L.
