

Patrick Akwaboah

Graduate Student

Representative

Patrick is a Certified Physician Assistant and Public Health Practitioner from Ghana with over 9 years of experience. He is pursuing a PhD in Population Studies at the Faculty of Health Sciences. His research examines changes in physical activity among children and adolescents in both rural and urban areas of 14 countries, with a further focus on low- and middle-income countries (LMICs). Patrick values respect for all races and equal opportunities for everyone.