I am a Registered Social Worker, holding a Bachelor in Social Work from the University of Calgary. My work centres around community-based advocacy, trans-feminist theory and research, and developing resources and policies to support marginalized communities. I have spoken at several national conferences on topics related to gender and sexuality, including the 2023 Moving Trans History Forward Conference at the University of Victoria. Born in Connecticut, USA, I now call Lethbridge home, along with my wife, Emily, and our cat, Remington.
